Reflections from Our Rector

Dear People of God,

We are preparing to quickly turn the page on July and move into August. Summer is moving too fast. August means the start of school for so many on every level. I share an outstanding story recently given to me. It is certainly worth reading and passing on to the children and grandchildren...

A young man went to seek an important position at a large landscaping company. He passed the initial interview and would now meet the director for the final interview. The director saw his résumé; it was excellent. He asked: "Have you received a scholarship for school?" The boy replied, "No."

"Where does your father work?" the director asked. The young man answered, "My father is a farmer and does landscaping for fun."

The director asked him to show his hands. The young man showed a pair of hands that were soft and perfect. "Have you ever helped your parents at their job?" "Never," he answered, continuing, "My parents always wanted me to study and read more books. Besides, my dad can do the job better than me."

The director said, "I have a request. When you go home today, wash your father's hands, and come see me tomorrow."

The young man felt his chance to get the job was high.

When he returned home, he asked his father if he would allow him to wash his hands. His father felt strange but happy, and with mixed feelings, he showed his hands to his son. The young man washed his hands, little by little. It was the first time he noticed his father's hands were wrinkled and had many scars. Some bruises were so painful that his father shuddered when his son touched them.

For the first time, the young man recognized what it meant for this pair of hands to work daily to pay for his son's studies. The bruises were the price his father paid for his education, school activities, and future.

After cleaning his father's hands, the young man stood silently and tidied up his father's workshop. The father and son talked for a long time that night.

The following day, the young man returned to meet with the director. When the director noticed tears in the young man's eyes, he asked, "Can you tell me what you did and learned yesterday?" The young man replied, "I washed my father's hands and then stayed to clean his workshop. Now I know what it is to appreciate and recognize that, without my parents, I would not be who I am today. By helping my father, I now realize how difficult it is to do something independently. I have come to appreciate the importance and value of helping my family."

The director said, "This is what I look for in my people. I want to hire someone who can appreciate the help of others, a person who knows the hardship others go through to accomplish things, and who realizes that money is not his only goal in life. You are hired!"

A coddled and overly protected child who gets everything they want develops a mentality of "I have the right" and will always put themselves first, ignoring the efforts of parents, family, and friends. If we are this protective parent, are we showing love, or are we helping destroy our children's sense of independence?

Children must learn to appreciate the effort to do the job right. They need to experience the difficulties in life that people must overcome to be successful. They must learn about failure to be able to succeed.

Life is about giving and serving; we teach these qualities at home.

... and please go to Mass as a family. Children need to see this example in action year-round. Pray as a family. Play as a family because children will grow up much too quickly.

Walking with you,
Fr. Greg

“Parable of the Hidden Treasure” by Rembrandt, Museum of Fine Arts, Budapest

In the ancient world without access to a bank or strongbox storage, burying valuables was a common practice, especially under threat of invasion. If the original owner died or was unable to return to his land, if no one had been told the whereabouts of the treasure, or if the land was confiscated, the treasure might be hidden for many years, unknown to the descendants of the original owner or those who find the treasure. “Finder’s keepers” does not apply in Palestinian society unless the field is one’s own property, so the one who finds the treasure must sell all that he has and buy the field. It is—as Jesus suggests in this first of three parables in today’s Gospel—this joy of discovery, the attitude of readiness to give up everything in order to obtain the treasure, that should characterize his disciples to whom God discloses the treasure of the kingdom.

On Friday, Pray with St. John Vianney, Patron Saint of Priests

By Fr. Andy Matijevic

There are certain saints in our tradition whose stories are known simply by their names. St. Anthony is the saint you go to when you lose something. St. Joseph is the one you go to for a happy death. St. Therese of the Little Flower is known for 'the little way.' Certain saints are just so popularly known. And within these well-known saints, certain professions have their patrons. Police officers have St. Michael, firefighters have St. Florian and teachers have St. Thomas Aquinas. But what about priests? We have St. John Vianney, whose feast day is Aug. 4.

St. John Vianney had a simple upbringing, born in France in 1786. His education was interrupted numerous times due to the Napoleonic wars and the draft the dictator put in place to enlist more soldiers. Vianney never fought because he was separated from his group and lived in the forest for 14 months. But he never lost his vocation to the priesthood, formed as he witnessed priests saying Mass "on the run" during the anticlerical French Revolution in the 1790s.

With Vianney's low-grade education, his seminary formators said he did not have the disposition to be a priest, but due to his piety and devotional life, his priest mentor persuaded the seminary to allow Vianney to move forward to Ordination. He was ordained to the priesthood in 1815 at 29 and, three years later, sent to Ars, France, where he stayed until he died in 1859. Vianney is known among parish priests for the 12 to 16 hours he spent in the confessional daily, his celebration of the Sacraments and the thousands who sought his counsel annually.

So, why is Vianney so well known among priests, besides being the patron saint of parish priests? Because his story shows the humanity of a man Jesus called to serve his people. He was not the most well-educated or known for his intellect, yet he still ministered to so many. As priests, each of us has shortcomings, talents, strengths and areas of improvement. And the people did not criticize Vianney for his lack of education because he pointed them to Jesus through his ministry.

Priests are human too. We make mistakes; we have emotions and feelings. Our life as priests may appear simple and easy, but a well-lived priesthood is not. It is difficult and sometimes painful because it is a life of sacrifice as we put aside our wants and desires to serve God's people. We may get criticized for saying this or doing that, and sometimes that hurts. Sometimes we have a long day of trying to bring God's love to those we meet, and we are told by some, "Be better." St. John Vianney teaches priests and the faithful served by them that Jesus qualifies the called; he does not call the qualified.

Every saint has a different path to canonization. Some are well known centuries after their death; some go hidden for years until God's time is right for their story to be known. What is common in them is their humanity. Nobody is perfect, but with God's grace, we all move forward knowing by our baptism, we are called to live with God in heaven for eternity. We join our voices of praise with those countless people who have gone before us, striving for sanctity.

Replica Resurrection Crosses For Sale

At Holy Name Cathedral, our Resurrection Cross is unique. Sculpted out of one piece of wood and suspended over the altar, artist Ivo Demetz created our Resurrection Cross in 1969. It is unique because Christ is not depicted in agony, but rather triumphant in glory.

Small replicas of our cross are for sale in the Rectory for $20. We only accept cash (exact change only) and checks made payable to Holy Name Cathedral. This replica can serve as a reminder of God's unconditional love for you and of the connection to Holy Name Cathedral. Ask our ushers for more details.

By Matt Kuszynski

This past Lent, I had the opportunity to complete The Exodus 90 journey with Father Ton and six others. Admittedly, I wasn't sure what to expect at first. The daily disciplines, the weekly fraternity meetings, and the constant sacrifice would take my complete dedication and a lot of perseverance. I knew it wouldn't be easy, but I wanted to put forth my best effort and complete these 90 days with pure intention to grow closer to God. I tried to use this journey to help me regain focus on my faith and overall become a better man.

Initially, I knew that if I were resilient enough, this would give me clear direction and guide me on the right path to fulfill God's plan. Truthfully, I intended to show God I loved him as much as he loved me.

Throughout this journey, I faced many struggles and obstacles. But I knew that if I stayed consistent and close with Fr. Ton and my fraternity brothers, I would find a way to overcome those difficult times. I began to view this journey as a challenge for myself to see if I was committed to my faith. Every day I woke up, I put my complete trust in God.

As time passed, the days became more manageable; I had a change of heart. I realized that it wasn't about the daily disciplines but about sacrificing for God. This journey for me was about understanding God's merciful love and that he would never leave me during the hard times in my life, this was the beauty in the struggle. I was never alone.

In hindsight, this gave me the strength to keep going. Father Ton and my fraternity brothers consistently provided support, wisdom and insight on their journey, which helped me along the way. We never failed each other; we always found a way to be there when needed. Looking back, I can honestly say that Exodus 90 changed my life. I feel called to serve God in all that I do. I recommend Exodus 90 to all those looking to grow in their relationship with God.

We are launching Frassati Small Groups for young adult women and men in the fall of 2023 — stay tuned!

Donate to Our Annual School Supplies Drive

Weekend of Aug. 19-20 before & after Masses

This year, our Annual School Supplies Drive will benefit the children of The Academy of St. Benedict the African School for preschoolers to 8th grade students, located at 6020 S. Laflin Avenue in West Englewood, and for the migrant children residing in our neighborhood at the Inn of Chicago. Teachers work hard to create a warm and inviting environment for their students, but most need more resources. Needs include the essential tools and supplies their students need to succeed in the classroom and all of the elements to make their classrooms a welcome place for their students. Let's help give our children better opportunities to be a vibrant force of love and hope in the community!

How you can support this year's Drive:

1: Supplies Donations: A wish list of school supplies the children need includes 13" Chromebook cases, Crayola Color of the World crayons, and magic markers for the students at St Benedict. The migrant children will start their school year with virtually nothing and require all essential supplies, including notebooks, pencils, pens, crayons, colored pencils, scissors, glue, and backpacks.

2: Volunteer to Collect and Organize Supplies

You can donate your time and passion by volunteering to help collect donations before and after Mass. We will also need your help to organize the donations. Please scan the QR code to let us know you are interested!

Blessings in a Backpack Volunteers needed for Back to School preparations

Our Blessings in a Backpack program at Holy Name Cathedral helps mitigate the problem of childhood food insecurity by providing food for the weekend.

The program goes on hiatus during the summer months, but we will be back in late August when the school year resumes. Once again we will be serving the students of St Thomas of Canterbury School in Edgewater.

We are looking for volunteers to help with our back to school preparations and donations to help fund the program for another year. If you'd like to get involved, please scan the QR code and we'll get you more information about packing food bags that starts again this August. Also, we are especially looking for volunteers to help drive and deliver to the school.

Serving Our Local Hospitals And Homebound

Ministry of Care to the sick is a pastoral ministry of caring for those who are hospitalized, in nursing homes, hospice, or confined to private homes. This ministry is provided by lay men and women, deacons, religious sisters and brothers and priests. Ministers of Care are trained and formed to conduct pastoral visits with time to listen and pray about the concerns of the sick or shut-in person and to share Eucharist with them. Each minister must complete 10 hours of training. Holy Name is blessed to have a cadre of priests and deacons who collaborate with Lori Doyle, Director of Service Ministries, to design and deliver the training. Our training is primarily an in-person training with opportunities to practice patient interactions over two Saturdays in the Fall of 2023 (dates TBA).

Stewardship as a Way of Life

"As an active volunteer and parishioner of Holy Name Cathedral, I truly feel at home here. As I look to the future, I want to ensure that the parish continues to grow, is a home to all, and has the necessary resources to fulfill its full spiritual mission. In gratitude for all that this parish has given to me and to many others, I have designated a gift for Holy Name Cathedral in my estate plan.
