Reflections from Our Rector_

Dear People of God,

July is upon us with warmth and sun! We must always take care of one another and help each other. May the following story "warm" your heart. Enjoy and pass it on...

A mouse looked through the crack in the wall to see the farmer and his wife open a package. "What food might this contain?" The mouse wondered. He was devastated to discover it was a mousetrap.

Retreating to the farmyard, the mouse proclaimed the warning. "There is a mousetrap in the house! There is a mousetrap in the house!" The chicken clucked and scratched, raised her head, and said, "Mr. Mouse, I can tell this is a grave concern to you, but it is of no consequence to me. I cannot be bothered by it."

The mouse turned to the pig and told him, "There is a mousetrap in the house! There is a mousetrap in the house!" The pig sympathized but said, "I am so very sorry, Mr. Mouse, but there is nothing I can do about it but pray. Be assured, you are in my prayers."

The mouse turned to the cow and said, "There is a mousetrap in the house! There is a mousetrap in the house!" The cow said, "Wow, Mr. Mouse, I'm sorry for you, but it's no skin off my nose."

So, the mouse returned to the house, head down and dejected, to face the farmer's mousetrap alone.

That night, a sound was heard throughout the house, like the sound of a mousetrap catching its prey. The farmer's wife rushed to see what the trap caught. In the darkness, she did not see it was a venomous snake whose tail the trap had caught. The snake bit the farmer's wife. The farmer rushed her to the hospital, and she returned home with a fever.

Everyone knows you treat a fever with fresh chicken soup, so the farmer took his hatchet to the farmyard for the soup's main ingredient. But his wife's sickness continued, so friends and neighbors came to sit with her around the clock.

To feed them, the farmer butchered the pig. The farmer's wife did not get well; she died. So many people came to her funeral, and the farmer had the cow slaughtered to provide enough meat for all of them.

The mouse looked upon it all from his crack in the wall with great sadness.

So, the next time you hear someone is facing a problem and think it doesn't concern you, remember when one of us is threatened, we are all at risk.

We are all involved in this journey called life. We must keep an eye out for one another and make an extra effort to encourage each other.

And remember, each one of us is a vital thread in another person's tapestry. We are the Body of Christ, and our lives are woven together for a reason!

At the same time, a hardy laugh is also marvelous for the soul...

A first grade school teacher in Virginia had twenty-five students in her class. She presented each child in her classroom the first half of a well-known proverb and asked them to come up with the remainder of the proverb. It's hard to believe first graders did these. Their insight may surprise you. While reading, keep in mind that these are six-year-olds because some of these comments are classic!

- 1. Don't change horses ... until they stop running.
- 2. Strike while the ... bug is close.
- 3. It's always darkest before ... Daylight Savings Time.
- 4. You can lead a horse to water but ... How?
- 5. Don't bite the hand that ... looks dirty.
- 6. No news is ... impossible.
- 7. A miss is as good as a ... mister.
- 8. If you lie down with dogs, you'll ... stink in the morning.
- 9. An idle mind is the best way to ... relax.
- 10. Where there's smoke there's ... pollution.
- 11. A penny saved is ... not much.
- 12. Two's company, three's ... The Musketeers

Keep enjoying summer, Fr. Greg

Sunday Offertory Giving

Although Holy Name Cathedral receives funding from appeals and fundraisers, our major source of income is the Sunday Offertory Collection. If you are a parishioner who does not donate to the Sunday Offertory Collection, we ask that you consider becoming an active contributor.

To sign up for recurring Sunday giving or to increase your current giving, please go to tinyurl.com/HNCgiving or scan the QR code below. We also have yellow envelopes which can be found in the back of the Cathedral. You can fill out, enclose your desired donation and leave with an usher as you exit the Cathedral, or take home to complete and mail back to us at your convenience. Thank you for your generosity.

A Sculpture of Sacred Heart of Jesus is coming to HNC!

As we continue through our celebration of the 175th anniversary of Holy Name Cathedral as a Faith Community, we turn our attention to our next event, which will honor the Sacred Heart of Jesus.

On Friday, Aug. 1 at the noon Mass, we will unveil a sculpture we commissioned from Chicago priest and artist Fr. Anthony Brankin. Leading up to that date, we will continue our series on the Sacred Heart. The sculpture will be a beautiful addition inside our Cathedral to commemorate this Catholic devotion.

LOOKING AHEAD: Save the date for our International Rosary Day on Sunday, Sept. 21. We'll have Mass at 5:15pm, followed by the Rosary prayed together in multiple languages followed by a dinner. More details to come in the following weeks. Our closing event of the 175th year will be our annual Ministry Fair on Sunday, Oct. 5. We'll highlight the events of our celebratory year and showcase the various ministries at Holy Name Cathedral.

On the Cover

In honor of our anniversary, each week we will spotlight photos from our past 175 years on the bulletin cover. They'll offer a peek into the past of our Faith Community.

Photo from the Chicago Sun-Times archives. This week we remember Cardinal George Mundelein, who was born July 2, 1872, whose galero hangs in Holy Name Cathedral (center of the back row of galeros hanging from the ceiling of the apse). Shown here with President Franklin Roosevelt on Oct. 5, 1938 at the Archbishop's Residence, Mundelein was Archbishop of Chicago from 1915 until his death in 1939. He was Chicago's first Cardinal, elevated in 1924.

Volunteer for Our Annual School Supplies Drive!

Masses During Weekend of Aug. 16 and 17

The difficulty of going back to school is that many students don't have the ability to own the basic tools needed to be successful. Many teachers try to supplement the missing supplies by using their own money to buy needed items but with today's prices, their funds are not enough. They need our help! During all Masses on Aug. 16 and 17, we will be collecting school supplies and monetary donations.

If you are interested in volunteering at one or more of the Masses, please sign up! You will need to arrive 15 minutes before Mass starts and stay 15 minutes after Mass ends. Please scan the QR code to sign up!

A special invitation to our parents, family and friends of the LGBTQ+ community.

Are you a parent looking for Catholic resources for your LGBTQ+ child? Are you a Mom or Dad looking to inspire your child back into the Church? Are you looking for a community of parents and family with the same questions you have?

It's the Perfect Time to Renew Our Call to be Good Stewards

By Fr. Andy Matijevic

n our current weekday cycle of readings at daily Mass, we have been reading through the call of Abram to be in covenant with God and becoming Abraham, who will provide him land and descendants more numerable than the stars in the sky. As we journey through these chapters in Genesis, the Bible reminds us of the basics of our faith: that we are called to community, to serve, and to be stewards of what God has given us. Stewardship is one of the first themes found in Scripture, tracing its origins back to the story of creation. Stewardship is the sharing of time, talent, and treasure. After creating the world and all that is in it, God gave humanity charge and care over all creation (cf. Gen 1:28). From the earliest moments of humanity, we are tasked with caring for the world and others.

Continuing to learn about our faith in the Scriptures, we hear proclaimed in the 1st Letter of St. Peter: "As each one has received a special gift, employ it in serving one another as good stewards of the multifaceted grace of God" (1 Peter 4:10). Each of us have special gifts. These gifts, St. Paul, says in his first letter to the Corinthians, all belong to the one body, that though we are many parts, we are one body in Christ (cf. 1 Cor. 12:12). As we celebrated the anniversary of our independence this weekend, we are reminded again where the freedom of our life comes into play: we can choose to be good stewards and walk the path of holiness, changing the world for the better, or hiding our gifts, refusing the glorify God and keeping our talents to ourselves.

Sometimes, the reality is that we don't have the time to help as we would like. But that doesn't mean we stop being good stewards. We may not be able to do everything, but we can always provide financial support to others who do the work of the Lord. As we begin this new fiscal year, it is not surprising costs have gone up around us. Inflation is a real thing, and the Church is not immune to the rising costs. Looking at the operating budget for the new fiscal year, with the understanding that your donations go to keeping the lights on (and we do need a new lighting system), providing supplies for the liturgies we celebrate, helping others know the goodness, love, and mercy of God through outreach and catechesis, we are projecting a significant deficit and need your help. Please consider increasing your Sunday donation this fiscal year so we can continue the mission of Jesus Christ. This increase could be as simple as $5 or $10 more or by beginning to contribute on a weekly or monthly basis.

Holy Name Cathedral is entirely self-funded, with no external support from the Archdiocese. We are a large faith community comprising approximately 6,400 households, serving thousands more through the steady flow of visitors we welcome each week. In this season of Ordinary Time, when life seems to move in a routine, let us renew our call as stewards of the gifts God has given us and share them with one another. Whatever the Lord is moving in your heart, we are inspired by the Word of God to continue His mission, and the mission of the Cathedral, to form "a community of disciples who inspire, nurture, and join people on their faith journey to encounter and grow in Jesus Christ."

Cathedral Tours After 8:30, 10:30, 12:30 Masses Today

Learn more about the 175-year history of Holy Name Cathedral through one of our weekly tours. This Sunday, we have three opportunities for tours of Holy Name. Every Sunday after the 8:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. Masses, Docents will give quick 15-minute tours.

Also, Docents will give full Cathedral tours after the 12:30 p.m. Mass on the first and third Sundays of the month, including this Sunday, July 6. The full tours last approximately 45 minutes. These free tours will begin immediately after Mass and will start at the front of the main, center aisle. No reservations needed!

From Cardinal Cupich

The Urgency of Living Authentically

Cardinal Cupich delivered the following homily June 14 at Rate Field, during the closing Mass of the Archdiocese's celebration of Pope Leo XIV:

By Cardinal Blase J. Cupich

y warmest welcome to all of you here at Rate Field and to all those joining us by livestream. It is good to be together.

I want to begin by thanking Pope Leo for taking the time to record a message. It is so appropriate to gather on Father's Day to honor the one we call with affection Holy Father.

And I want to pick up on something he observed in the video. He asked all of us to be attentive to the longings in our hearts for meaning. In a word, he was talking about discovering how to live authentically, to be authentic persons.

As the pope observed, given that we are made in the image and likeness of God, this feast of the Trinity gives us a moment to reflect on what it means for us to be a person in the likeness of God, to be true to ourselves and others.

Three things come to mind.

First, notice that each of the three persons is aware of being loved. As John baptizes in the Jordan River, God introduces Jesus to the world as his beloved Son in whom he is well pleased. Likewise, Jesus speaks of the Father as the one he loves, with whom he is one in the Spirit.

The message is clear, knowing we are loved is foundational for living as an authentic person. This must be the core of our identity, the point of reference for how we value ourselves, especially whenever voices within us create doubts and erode our self-esteem in moments of failure and shame.

Returning often to this foundational conviction, that the measure of our worth is that we are loved by God without condition, can free us from the tyranny of being judged by others or from being held to the world's standards of success. Just as it was for Jesus on that first day of doing the will of his Father, as we strive to live with authenticity, we would do well to begin each of our days with an openness to hear those same words, "You are my beloved." That is the measure of our worth.

A second thing we notice is that the three persons always act together; each is not a person in isolation but always in connection with one another. So, too, we cannot be authentic persons living in isolation, whether as individuals or as an elite group. To the degree we value our connection to all of humanity we open ourselves to living as authentic persons in the image of the Divine Persons.

Sadly, we too often hear voices attempting to define a portion of humanity as other or unconnected. This does great harm to the human family but even more, as history has often told us, also to those who speak and act this way. Humanity is diminished whenever the unborn or the undocumented, the unemployed or the unhealthy, are excluded, uninvited or unwelcome, or whenever we tell ourselves they are of no concern to us.

We should keep this in mind as we face the challenges of immigration in our country. Without question, countries have a duty to secure their borders, protect the public from crime and violence and enact reasonable rules for immigration. At the same time, it is wrong to scapegoat those who are here without documents, for indeed they are here due to a broken immigration system which both parties have failed to fix.

The task before us in this moment as Christians, is to call each other to live with authenticity, as authentic persons, rejecting language or activity that demonizes and degrades the dignity of others, that pretends that some persons are unworthy to be connected to us. That is foreign to our calling to be persons in the image and likeness of God.

It is also dishonest, for indeed, so many of the undocumented have for decades been connected to us. They are here not by invasion but invitation — to harvest the fruits of the earth that feed our families, to clean our tables, homes and hotel rooms, to landscape our lawns, and yes even to care for our children and elderly.

I have no doubt that if we are honest about our connections to one another, we can respond to this moment and thus reclaim our calling to live as authentic persons in the image of the Divine Persons.

Finally, we notice the ongoing and generous selfgiving among the Persons of God. We are told that the Father gives everything over to the Son who returns it to the Father to be given to us in the Spirit. The store of loving sacrifice is bottomless. Indeed, love never ends.

The capacity to love is infinite, yes, even for us. Love does not have to be rationed or held back just for some, thinking we may risk exhausting our ability to love those closest to us. Over the years, I have seen first-hand how people have come to learn this.

One summer I was invited to join a family at their lake home for a few days. Earlier in the year, I did the marriage of their son, Pete. The new groom and I were overlooking the lake one evening and he told me that next year he planned to have his own sailboat moored at the dock alongside his father's.

The next year I returned to the lake, and again both of us are standing at the lake shore. I pointed out that I did not see his boat next to his dad's. "Yes." he said as he looked down at his newborn son in his arms, "but what a great trade-off."

for more resources from the Archdiocese's Pope Leo event.

So often I have been delighted to see new parents discover in the store of their hearts the infinite capacity to love without counting the cost. It is the kind of discovery that helps them grow as authentic persons in the image and likeness of God. I hope you have made the same discovery in your lives.

This weekend is also Father's Day. It is an occasion to remember those who have been father to us and taught us how to live authentically.

In my case, many of the things I talked about today were taught to me by Dad.

He was a letter carrier who at age 48 was struck with Parkinson's, which left him unemployed. After securing the proper medication, diet and exercise, he began volunteer work with our parish St. Vincent de Paul Society, visiting hospitals and shut-ins.

He noticed that some living at home alone lacked proper nutrition, so he went to the county board and urged participation in a new federal program called "Meals on Wheels." Sadly, the board did not want anything to do with the bureaucracy involved. So, Dad decided he would run for the seat on the county board. He was elected and served three terms and to this day, the county has a vibrant "Meals on Wheels" program.

I tell you this story because Dad taught me what it means to be an authentic person before I ever studied theology and learned about the Trinity. He did not let his illness tell him his life was worthless; he understood the importance of being connected to others and he tapped into a bottomless resource of sacrificial love.

At Communion time today, I would invite you to take a moment and thank God for the people in your lives who have taught you how to be authentic as real persons, convincing you that you are loved by God, teaching you to treasure how interconnected we all are and inspiring you to live without counting the cost.

Happy Father's Day to all.

What is the Secret Source of Life That Strengthens Us?

By Fr. Ton Nguyen

ummer is here, and so are the gatherings filled with vibrant dishes and exciting flavors.

Take the Vietnamese spring roll, for example — a refreshing appetizer wrapped in rice paper with fresh herbs, lettuce, noodles, and your choice of protein, such as shrimp or pork.

Want to make it even better at home? Here's the secret: season and grill the meat instead of boiling it. For an added crunch, slip in a fried egg roll wrapper. Simple, yet transformative. (By the way, if you're reading this article, you owe me a meal!) Every great dish has a secret ingredient that takes it from ordinary to extraordinary.

Life is no different. In our journey of faith, we often ask: what is the "secret source" that strengthens and sustains us? For Catholics, the Sacraments — especially the Eucharist — are the source and summit of Christian life. But beyond the liturgy, what deepens our spiritual experience and keeps our faith alive day by day? The answer: small groups.

Jesus Himself modeled this. Though He preached to the crowds, He chose to walk closely with a small group of twelve. It was within this intimate circle that He taught, formed community, and shared life rooted in truth and love.

Our beloved friend, Blessed Pier Giorgio Frassati, whose feast day is July 4 and will be canonized on September 7 (how fabulous!), once said, "Every day I ought to thank God because He has given me men and lady friends of such goodness who form for me a precious guide for my whole life." His life shows us that holiness thrives in the community. Whether hiking, studying, watching movies, or enjoying meals, Frassati and his friends centered their friendships around prayer, the Rosary, Mass, and Eucharistic Adoration.

The saints found the secret source — small groups. Have you?

Small groups provide us with the space to ask profound questions, grow in faith, and experience genuine Christian fellowship. Like that perfectly seasoned spring roll, it's the hidden elements that make all the difference.

This summer, as you savor the flavors of life, remember: don't let your faith go bland. Join a small group and experience the richness of a genuine community.

Mark your calendar! Here are some soft entries where you might discover your small group. Check out more events on page 11:

- Coffee and Bagels after 10:30am Mass on Sunday, July 13
- Eucharistic Adoration on Wednesday, July 16, from 6–7pm, followed by a bonfire (weather permitting).

Make good choices! I love being a priest. JMJ.

HNC 175th Anniversary Prayer

Heavenly Father, we are thankful for Holy Name Cathedral, a place of prayer and worship for 175 years.

We thank you for the faith, friendship, and generosity that has flowed so freely through this parish and remember with gratitude the generations who have come before us in this sacred space.

May we continue to welcome all with love, faith, and hospitality, and be united in our shared mission, serving as joyful disciples of Christ. Amen.
